

Overview of Paid Sick Time Laws in the United States

In the United States, 9 states, 30 cities, 2 counties, and Washington D.C. have paid sick time laws on the books. This document provides an overview and comparison of these 42 laws, with the exceptions of the paid sick time laws recently passed in Maryland and in Austin, Texas.¹ We are currently developing a digital, user-friendly version of this chart that will cover all 42 laws. In the meantime, information about Maryland and Austin’s laws can be found in Section IV of this document (“Additional Paid Sick Time Laws”).

Section I provides a comparison of paid sick time laws that are—or will soon be—in effect at the statewide level (with the exception of Maryland’s law), as well as Washington D.C.’s law.

Section II provides a comparison of the seven local paid sick time laws that are—or will soon be—in effect in California.

Section III provides a comparison of paid sick time laws that are—or will soon be—in effect at the county and city level, with the exceptions of Austin, Texas, and the seven California cities in Section II.

Section IV provides a brief overview of the paid sick time laws in Maryland and Austin, Texas, and additional paid sick time laws that are narrower than the ones covered in this chart.

Who is covered?	Hourly workers in certain “service” occupations in Connecticut are covered, if they work for a business with 50 or more workers. For the full list of which professions are covered “service” occupations, go to www.ctdol.state.ct.us/vgwkstnd/SickLeaveLaw.htm and look at the definition of “service worker” (Sec. 31-57r(7)). Certain manufacturers and non-profit organizations are exempted, as are temporary and day laborers.	Workers employed in California for 30 or more days a year after commencement of employment are covered. Flight deck/cabin crews subject to Railway Labor Act with comparable paid time off are exempted. Workers who provide in-home supportive care are exempted until July 1, 2018, at which point they will be able to accrue paid sick time (subject to specific usage and carryover provisions). ²	Workers employed in Massachusetts are covered. Workers employed by cities and towns are only covered if the law is accepted by vote or appropriation as provided in the State Constitution.	Workers employed in Oregon are covered. Independent contractors, certain work study students, certain railroad workers, and individuals employed by their parent, spouse, or child are exempted.	Workers employed by an employer within Washington, D.C are covered. The following individuals are exempted: independent contractors; students; health care workers choosing to participate in a premium pay program; unpaid volunteers engaged in the activities of an educational, charitable, religious, or nonprofit organization; and casual babysitters.	Workers employed by an employer in Vermont for an average of no less than 18 hours per week during a year are covered. The following individuals are exempted: workers under 18 years of age; workers employed for 20 or fewer weeks in a year in a job scheduled to last 20 or fewer weeks; certain State workers excluded from the State classified service; certain employees who work on a per diem or intermittent basis at a health care or long-term care facility; certain per diem or intermittent workers who only work when indicating availability, have no obligation to accept the work, and have no expectation of continued employment; certain substitute educators for a school district or supervisory district/union if under no obligation to work a regular schedule or period of long-term (30 or more consecutive school days) substitute coverage; and certain sole proprietors/partner owners of an unincorporated business.	Workers employed by an employer in Arizona are covered. State government workers, but not local government workers, are exempted. Individuals employed by a parent or a sibling and individuals performing babysitting services in the employer’s home on a casual basis are also exempted.	Workers employed by an employer in Washington are covered. Workers exempt from the state minimum wage law are also exempt from the paid sick time law. See http://www.lni.wa.gov/workplacerghts/files/policies/esa1.pdf for a detailed list of exemptions.	Workers employed in Rhode Island are covered. Independent contractors, subcontractors, work study participants, apprenticeships and interns; certain employees licensed to practice nursing, and state and municipal workers are exempted. Workers exempt from the state minimum wage law are also exempt from the paid sick time law. See http://webservice.rilin.state.ri.us/statutes/TITLE28/28-12/28-12-2.HTM for a detailed list of exemptions.

Amount of paid sick time that can be earned under the law per year? (Note: All of these paid sick time laws make it clear that these laws establish a minimum requirement, and employers can provide greater or more generous paid sick time benefits to their workers.)	Up to 40 hours of paid sick time a year	Employers may cap the amount of paid sick time a worker earns at 48 hours or 6 days. Employers may also cap the amount of paid sick time a worker can use each year at 24 hours or 3 days.	Workers in businesses with 11 or more workers: up to 40 hours of paid sick time a year. Workers in businesses with fewer than 11 workers: up to 40 hours of unpaid sick time a year	Larger businesses: Workers in businesses with at least 10 or more workers: up to 40 hours of paid sick time a year Employers located in Portland: If a business is located in Portland (including maintaining any office, store, restaurant, or establishment in the city) and has at least 6 workers anywhere in Oregon, workers have the right to earn up to 40 hours of paid sick time a year. Smaller businesses: Workers in businesses with fewer than 10 workers (or fewer than 6 workers if the business is located in Portland): up to 40 hours of unpaid sick time a year. Special rule for some home care workers: Certain home care workers who are hired directly by the client but whose compensation is funded in whole or part by payments from the State, county, or a public agency must receive up to 40 hours of paid time off a year (including but not limited to sick time).	Workers in businesses with 24 or fewer workers: up to 24 hours a year. Workers in businesses with 25-99 workers (and workers in a restaurant or bar with 1-99 workers who regularly receive tips to supplement a base wage below the minimum wage): up to 40 hours a year. Workers in businesses with 100 or more workers: up to 56 hours a year. The number of workers is determined by the average monthly number of full-time equivalents in the prior year.	From 1/1/2017 to 12/31/2018: Up to 24 hours a year. After 12/31/2018: Up to 40 hours a year. Note: new businesses will not be subject to the paid sick time law for a period of one year after hiring their first worker.	Workers in businesses with 15 or more workers: 40 hours. Workers in businesses with fewer than 15 workers: 24 hours.	No explicit cap on how much sick time can be earned or used in a year. However, as described below, employers are not required to allow a worker to carry over more than 40 hours of unused paid sick time a year.	In 2018, workers in businesses with 18 or more workers can earn up to 24 hours of paid sick time; workers in businesses with fewer than 18 workers can earn up to 24 hours of unpaid sick time. In 2019, workers in businesses with 18 or more workers can earn up to 32 hours of paid sick time; workers in businesses with fewer than 18 workers can earn up to 32 hours of unpaid sick time. Each year after 2019, workers in businesses with 18 or more workers can earn up to 40 hours of paid sick time; workers in businesses with fewer than 18 workers can earn up to 40 hours of unpaid sick time.

When do workers begin to earn paid sick time?	At the commencement of employment, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until the 680th hour of employment.	At the commencement of employment, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until the 90 th day of employment. As noted earlier, the law covers a worker when the worker, on or after July 1, 2015, works in California for more than 30 days within a year from the commencement of employment.	At the date of hire, but workers aren't entitled to use sick time until the 90th calendar day following commencement of employment.	At the commencement of employment or January 1, 2016, whichever is later. For a worker employed on the law's effective date of January 1, 2016, earned sick time may be used as it is earned. For workers who begin employment after the effective date of January 1, 2016, workers aren't entitled to use earned sick time until the 91st calendar day of employment with the employer.	At the commencement of employment, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until after 90 days of service with his or her employer.	At the commencement of employment or when their employer becomes covered by the law, whichever is later, but workers can be required to wait up to 1 year before using their accrued paid sick time. See endnote 4 on page 6 for more.	At the commencement of employment or July 1, 2017, whichever is later. Earned paid sick time can be used as it is accrued, except that an employer may require a worker hired after July 1, 2017, to wait until the 90th calendar day after commencing employment before using accrued earned paid sick time.	Although not specified, reads as if accrual begins at the commencement of employment. Workers are entitled to use accrued paid sick time beginning on the 90th calendar day after the commencement of employment.	At the commencement of employment or July 1, 2018, whichever is later (for both paid and unpaid sick time). However, workers aren't entitled to use sick time until after 90 days of employment. Temporary workers are entitled to use sick time beginning on the 180th calendar day following commencement of their employment. Seasonal workers are entitled to use sick time beginning on the 150th calendar day following commencement of their employment.
Does unused sick time carry forward to the subsequent year?	Workers are entitled to carry forward up to 40 hours of unused paid sick time, but employers are not required to allow use of more than 40 hours of paid sick time a year.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time, but employers aren't required to allow use of more than 24 hours (or three days) of paid sick time per year. Carry forward is not required if the full amount of paid sick time (24 hours, or three days) is provided at the beginning of each year.	Workers are entitled to carry forward up to 40 hours of unused sick time, but employers aren't required to allow use of more than 40 hours of sick time a year. Per regulations, employers may choose to pay out workers up to 40 hours of unused sick time at the end of the year. If an employer pays out a worker for 16 hours or more of unused sick time, they must provide 16 hours of unpaid sick time up front in the new year; if they pay out less than 16 hours, they shall provide an equivalent amount of unpaid sick time up front in the new year. In either case, this unpaid sick time is replaced by paid sick time as the worker earns it.	Workers are entitled to carry forward up to 40 hours of unused sick time. An employer may adopt a policy: limiting the amount of sick time that can be earned to no more than 80 hours; or limiting use of sick time to no more than 40 hours a year. Carry forward is not required if the following elements are met: 1) the worker and the employer mutually agree not to carry forward the time; 2) the employer credits the worker with an amount of sick time that meets the law's requirements up front at the start of the subsequent year; and 3) if the employer has 10 or more workers in OR, the employer pays the worker for all unused paid sick time at the end of the year in which it is earned.	Per regulations, workers can carry forward unused paid sick time, but employers aren't required to allow use of more than: 56 hours of paid sick time a year (for businesses with 100 or more workers); 40 hours of paid sick time a year (for businesses with at least 25 and fewer than 100 workers—this presumably will also be the rule for tipped workers in a restaurant or bar with 1-99 workers); or 24 hours of paid sick time a year (for business with fewer than 25 workers).	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time and shall continue to accrue paid sick time, but employers aren't required to allow use of more than 24 hours (from 1/1/2017 to 12/31/2018) or 40 hours (after 12/31/2018) a year. However, employers are not required to carry it forward if they choose to pay a worker for unused paid sick time at the end of the year. If an employer offers a paid time off (PTO) policy or is party to a CBA that provides at least the full amount of PTO required by the paid sick time law at the beginning of each year and it can be used for the law's purposes at any time during the year, it shall not carry forward.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time, but employers aren't required to allow annual accrual or use of more than: 40 hours of paid sick time a year (for businesses with 15 or more workers); or 24 hours of paid sick time a year (for businesses with fewer than 15 workers). In lieu of carryover of unused earned paid sick time from one year to the next, an employer may pay a worker for unused paid sick time at the end of a year and provide the worker with an amount of paid sick time that meets or exceeds the law's requirements that is available for the worker's immediate use at the beginning of the subsequent year.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time, except that an employer is not required to allow a worker to carry over paid sick time in excess of 40 hours.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time, but employers aren't required to allow use of more than 24 hours of paid sick time in 2018, 32 hours of paid sick time in 2019, and 40 hours of paid sick time each year after 2019. In lieu of carryover of unused earned paid sick time from one year to the next, an employer may pay a worker for unused paid sick time at the end of a year and provide the worker with an amount of paid sick time that meets or exceeds the law's requirements that is available for the worker's immediate use at the beginning of the subsequent year.

Are there waivers/ exemptions for workers covered by a valid Collective Bargaining Agreement (CBA)? (See endnote 18.)	No specific language regarding waivers or exemptions for workers covered by a CBA	Construction industry workers covered by a CBA providing certain wage/hour/working conditions and expressly waiving the law's provisions in clear and unambiguous terms are exempted. Otherwise, workers covered by a CBA providing for comparable paid time off and certain wage/hour/working conditions are exempted.	No specific language regarding waivers or exemptions for workers covered by a CBA	The law exempts workers whose terms and conditions of employment are covered by a CBA if their employment-related benefits are provided by a joint multi-employer-employee trust or benefit plan and they are employed through a hiring hall or similar referral system operated by the labor organization or third party.	The law's paid sick time requirements won't apply to workers in the building/construction industry covered by a CBA that expressly waives the requirements in clear and unambiguous terms. Otherwise, the law's paid sick time requirements can't be waived in the written terms of a CBA for less than 3 paid leave days.	No specific waivers or exemptions for workers covered by a CBA	All or any part of the law doesn't apply to workers covered by a CBA to the extent that the CBA explicitly waives the requirements in clear and unambiguous terms.	No specific waivers or exemptions for workers covered by a CBA	No (although the law exempts construction workers covered by a CBA until July 1, 2018, that is the same day the law goes into effect)

When do workers begin to earn paid sick time?	90 calendar days after the commencement of employment. For workers hired on or after January 1, 2017, paid sick time begins to accrue at the commencement of employment, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until the 90 th day of employment.	On the first day of employment, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until after 90 calendar days of employment.	Although not explicitly stated in the law and future regulations may address it, paid sick time will likely be earned in the same manner as the State's paid sick time law: workers begin to earn paid sick time at the commencement of employment, but aren't entitled to use paid sick time until the 90th day of employment.	At the commencement of a worker's employment with the employer, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until after the first 90 days of employment (or sooner if provided for in the employer's policies).	At the commencement of employment or July 11, 2016, whichever is later, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until 90 calendar days following the commencement of employment or on July 11, 2016, whichever is later.	On the first day of employment or July 1, 2016, whichever is later. A worker is entitled to use paid sick time beginning on the 90th day of employment or July 1, 2016, whichever is later. As noted earlier, the law covers a worker when the worker, on or after July 1, 2016, works in Los Angeles for the same employer for 30 days or more within a year from the commencement of employment.	On the first day of employment or October 1, 2017, whichever is later, but workers aren't entitled to use paid sick time until 90 calendar days after commencement of employment.
Does unused paid sick time carry forward to the subsequent year?	Workers are entitled to carry forward 72 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with 10 or more workers) or 40 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with fewer than 10 workers), but employers are not required to allow workers to earn more than these 72-hour or 40-hour caps.	Workers are entitled to carry forward 72 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with 10 or more workers) or 40 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with fewer than 10 workers), but employers are not required to allow workers to earn more than these 72-hour or 40-hour caps.	Workers are entitled to carry forward 72 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with more than 55 workers) or 48 hours of unused paid sick time (in businesses with 55 or fewer workers), but employers are not required to allow workers to earn more than these 72-hour or 48-hour caps.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time to the following year, until their paid sick time reaches the annual caps described in the chart on the prior page (depending on business size and year). Carry forward is not required if the full amount of paid sick time required by the law is received by the worker at the beginning of each year (calendar year, fiscal year, or year of employment).	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time. An employer may satisfy the law's carry-over provisions if the employer provides a worker with at least 40 hours of paid sick time at the beginning of each benefit year, regardless of whether the employee is full-time, part-time, or temporary.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time to the following year, but employers may cap it at 72 hours.	Workers are entitled to carry forward unused paid sick time. However, employers with fewer than 25 workers may limit use of paid sick time to 48 hours per year; larger employers may not limit the use of paid sick time (only the accrual , or amount earned , as described earlier).

Does unused sick time carry forward to the subsequent year?	Workers are entitled to carry forward up to 56 hours of unused sick time and may use up to 80 hours of sick time a year when they have sick time that is carried forward . However, employers are not required to allow carry forward if, at the beginning of the new year, they award the full amount of sick time that the worker would earn over that year.	Workers are entitled to carry forward half of their unused paid sick time, up to a maximum of 20 hours, but employers aren’t required to allow use of more than 40 hours of paid sick time a year. However, as described earlier in this chart, workers subject to the FMLA may carry forward up to 40 hours of unused paid sick time for FMLA purposes.	Workers are entitled to carry forward the following amount of unused paid sick time: Tier 1 : up to 40 hours; Tier 2 : up to 56 hours; Tier 3 : up to 72 hours (or up to 108 hours if the employer has a universal paid time off policy). ¹ Please note that this chart does not provide an exhaustive overview of these state, county, and city paid sick time laws, and it does not constitute legal advice. It is possible that additional provisions not described in this fact sheet may apply to a worker's specific circumstances or category of employment (such as welfare participants, for example). City paid sick time laws cannot cover state government workers, and neither city nor state paid sick time laws are able to cover federal government workers.

² California's statewide paid sick time law took effect in July 2015. On April 4, 2016, the Governor signed into law minimum wage legislation that also expanded the existing paid sick time law to cover providers of in-home supportive care, beginning July 1, 2018. For these newly covered domestic workers, paid sick time usage and carry forward will differ from what is described in this chart, and the law directs a workgroup to issue guidance in 2017; officials are also likely to issue related regulations prior to July 1, 2018. The California statewide law explicitly states that it establishes minimum requirements on sick time and does not preempt or limit other laws or policies that provide for more favorable paid sick time rights to workers. Therefore, the more expansive San Francisco, Oakland, Emeryville, Santa Monica, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Berkeley paid sick time laws will still apply to workers covered by those laws, and other cities or counties in California may continue to pass broader paid sick time laws.

³ Oregon's Legislature passed a statewide paid sick time law on June 12, 2015, and the law went into effect on January 1, 2016. The law preempts—or prohibits—local governments from passing paid sick time laws. As a result, Eugene's paid sick time law—passed in July 2014 and originally scheduled to go into effect on July 1, 2015—did not take effect. On the other hand, Portland passed a paid sick time law in March 2013, and it went into effect on January 1, 2014, prior to passage of the statewide law. Although Oregon's paid sick time law blocked localities from passing paid sick time laws and preempted Portland's law, the Portland law influenced a key provision of the statewide law. As described in this chart, the employer size threshold for providing paid sick time is lower for employers who are located in Portland (including maintenance of any office, store, restaurant, or establishment in the city). As described in the chart, an employer located in Portland that employs at least six workers anywhere in Oregon must provide its workers with paid sick time, and smaller employers located in Portland must provide unpaid sick time. For employers who are not located in Portland, the size threshold for providing paid sick time is 10 or more workers (with smaller employers providing unpaid sick time). Eugene and Portland have been removed from this comparison chart.

⁴ On February 17, 2016, the Vermont Legislature provided final passage of a paid sick time bill, and the Governor signed it into law on March 9, 2016. With the exception of provisions around small business planning/implementation assistance and a business survey that took effect earlier, Vermont's paid sick time law became effective for employers with more than 5 workers (employed for an average of no less than 30 hours per week) on January 1, 2017; these employers could have required workers who existed on January 1, 2017 to wait up to December 31, 2017 before using paid sick time accrued during this first year. An employer with 5 or fewer workers (employed for an average of no less than 30 hours per week) became subject to the paid sick time law on January 1, 2018; these employers may require workers who existed on January 1, 2018 to wait up to December 31, 2018 before using paid sick time accrued during this first year. Also, as described in the chart, new businesses will not be subject to the paid sick time law for a period of one year after hiring their first worker.

⁶ Rhode Island's Legislature passed a statewide paid sick and safe time bill on September 19, 2017, and the Governor signed it into law on September 28, 2017. Workers will begin earning paid sick and safe time on July 1, 2018.

⁷ In July 2014, the San Diego City Council passed a paid sick time and minimum wage ordinance and then voted to override the mayor's veto of the ordinance on August 18, 2014. However, opponents collected signatures to put the paid sick time and minimum wage ordinance to a vote in a June 2016 referendum, and the law was delayed from going into effect. On June 7, 2016, voters in San Diego approved the paid sick time and minimum wage ordinance. The law went into effect on July 11, 2016. An implementing ordinance that made some amendments was passed by the Council and later approved by the Mayor on August 3, 2016. The implementing ordinance took effect on September 2, 2016.

¹¹ All of the local paid sick time laws in New Jersey are now in effect. In December 2015, the city of New Brunswick passed a narrower paid sick and safe time law that departs from the more comprehensive laws in the other 11 New Jersey cities listed in the chart. In covered businesses with 10 or more workers: full-time workers (averaging 35 hours/week) are entitled to earn up to 40 hours of paid sick/safe time per year, while part-time workers (averaging 20-35 hours/week) are entitled to earn up to 24 hours. In covered businesses with more than 5 full-time equivalent workers but fewer than 10 workers, workers are entitled to earn up to 24 hours a week. However, the law excludes all workers employed for an average of less than 20 hours per week. The law also exempts all government and board of education workers, independent contractors, individuals who work from home, and certain "per diem" hospital workers who work on a flexible, "as needed" basis to cover for other absent hospital workers. The New Brunswick law is now in effect. For more, go to: <http://thecityofnewbrunswick.org/planninganddevelopment/paid-sick-safe-time-in-new-brunswick/>

¹³ On January 11, 2016, the Spokane City Council passed a paid sick time law by a vote of 6-1. The Council then passed the bill into law over the Mayor's veto on January 25, 2016. However, businesses that received their first business registration in Spokane after the enactment of the law—but before the law's effective date of January 1, 2017—are not subject to the law until 1 year after the date of their first business registration.

¹⁴ On August 3, 2015, the Pittsburgh City Council passed a paid sick time law by a vote of 7-1. Although lower courts ruled against the law based on a unique provision in Pennsylvania law, the city is in the process of appealing the decision to the state's Supreme Court.

¹⁶ "Safe time" refers to time off for purposes related to domestic violence, sexual assault or stalking (like the need for time off to obtain protective orders, relocate, etc.). Note that a victim of domestic violence, sexual abuse, or stalking can use sick time to attend to medical/preventive health issues like any other worker, and workers may use sick time related to the medical/preventive health issues of a family member. Also, some of these laws may only cover safe time if the domestic violence, sexual assault and/or stalking occurs between certain individuals (such as family members, household members, dating relationships, etc.).

¹⁸ All of these paid sick time laws include language making it clear that these laws establish a minimum requirement and employees can receive greater paid sick time rights through a contract, CBA, employment benefit plan, policy, standard, or other agreement.

IV. Additional Paid Sick Time Laws

On February 16, 2018, the City Council in Austin, Texas voted to pass a paid sick time ordinance covering private sector employees. On March 1, 2018, the City Council passed a resolution to effectively expand the ordinance to cover all City employees as well. Workers who have worked within the City of Austin for at least 80 hours in a calendar year are covered. Independent contractors and unpaid interns are exempted. Beginning on October 1, 2018, individuals who work for employers with more than 15 employees can earn up to 64 hours of paid sick time per year, while individuals who work for employers with 6 to 15 employees can earn up to 48 hours of paid sick time per year. Beginning on October 1, 2020, individuals who work for employers with 5 or fewer employees can also earn up to 48 hours of paid sick time per year. Sick time is accrued at a rate of 1 hour of paid sick time for every 30 hours worked. New employees can be required to wait 60 days before using sick time, if the employer establishes that the employee's term of employment is at least one year. However, workers can begin accruing paid sick time upon the commencement of their employment or on the applicable effective date, whichever is later. Workers can carry over to the following year unused earned sick time up to the applicable yearly cap. Earned sick time can be used to care for family members including an employee's spouse, child, parent, or any other individual related by blood or whose close association with the employee is the equivalent of a family relationship. Earned sick time can also be used for "safe time" purposes when the worker or the worker's family member is a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. Workers do not have a private right of action to file a lawsuit in court to redress violations of the law.

On January 12, 2018, the Maryland Legislature voted to override Governor Hogan's veto of a paid sick time bill passed by the Legislature in 2017. The right to begin earning paid sick time began on February 11, 2018. Workers who work for employers with at least 15 employees can earn up to 40 hours of paid sick time per year, at a rate of 1 hour of sick time for every 30 hours worked. Those who work for employers with fewer than 15 employees can earn the same amount of unpaid, job-protected sick time at the same rate. New employees can be required to wait 106 days before using sick time, though they begin accruing it as soon as they start working. Workers are entitled to carry forward up to 40 hours of unused sick time to the following year, but employers are allowed to cap the total amount of earned sick time accrued at 64 hours per year. Likewise, employers aren't required to allow use of more than 64 hours of sick time per year. Workers do not have a private right of action to file a civil action in court to redress violations of the law (although they may file a civil action to enforce an order issued by the enforcement agency). Earned sick time can be used to care for family members including children, parents, parents-in-law, legal guardians, spouses, grandparents, siblings, and any individual who acted as a parent or stood in loco parentis to the employee or the employee's spouse when the employee or the employee's spouse was a minor. Earned sick time can also be used for maternity or paternity leave, or for "safe time" purposes when the worker or the worker's family member is a victim of domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking. All Maryland workers are covered except for the following: agricultural workers; realtors; workers under the age of 18; workers employed by a temporary services agency to provide temporary staffing services to another person; workers directly employed by an employment agency to provide part-time or temporary services to another person; workers that regularly work less than 12 hours per week; workers in the construction industry covered by a collective bargaining agreement waiving sick and safe leave in clear and unambiguous terms; workers that are on-call in the health or human services industry that can reject or accept a shift, not guaranteed to be called for work, and not employed by a temporary staffing agency.

In November 2013, voters in SeaTac, Washington passed a law that gives certain hospitality and transportation workers a variety of new labor rights, including the right to earn paid sick time (at a rate of 1 hour for every 40 hours worked). Covered employers are required to pay eligible workers a lump sum payment at the end of the calendar year equivalent to the compensation due for any unused compensated time. The law also raises the minimum wage for these workers, gives them a right to keep their tips, and requires hospitality and transportation employers to offer additional hours to part-time workers before they may hire new part-time staff.

In November 2012, the voters of Long Beach, California approved a measure to guarantee a living wage and paid sick time to certain hotel workers in the city. Under the law, hotels with 100 or more rooms are required to pay workers a minimum of $13 an hour (adjusted for increases in the federal minimum wage or cost of living) and allow workers to earn a minimum of 5 paid sick days a year.
