

Emergency Paid Sick Leave Tracker: State, City, and County Developments

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, states, cities, and counties throughout the U.S. have acted to protect workers affected by the virus by enacting emergency paid sick leave policies. This document tracks emergency paid sick leave measures at the state and local level, and it will be updated with new developments periodically; please note that this document is not exhaustive. A growing number of cities and states are acting to guarantee emergency sick leave during the pandemic, especially due to federal inaction in 2021. Congress did not extend the emergency paid sick leave guaranteed through December 31, 2020 by the federal Families First Coronavirus Response Act. Rather, Congress only provided tax credits to reimburse employers for voluntarily-provided COVID-19 paid leave, which expired on September 30, 2021 (learn more about the tax credits here). Beyond a few examples, this document does not provide a comprehensive tracking of local and state emergency leave policies that only pertain to state or local government workers.
